I really like Rome, the capital of Italy. It's a great city with lots of history. Right now it's April, so the weather is getting warm and it's nice to walk around.

The city has many old buildings and you can see places like the Colosseum where gladiators used to fight. Lots of people come to visit Rome, but it's still a fun place with no stress. I'm staying close to a busy street with many shops called Via del Corso. It's perfect for buying gifts and trying Italian ice cream called gelato. I also see people making pizza and pasta, which are famous in Italy. And Rome is known for starting the Roman Empire a long time ago.

*Hi Mom and Dad,
I'm going to the 4 p.m. showing of 'Space Adventure' at the Grand Cinema.
I'll make sure to head back right after it finishes. My phone is with me, so just call or text if you need to. Don't worry,
I'll be safe.
See you after the movie!

Hi, I'm John from the USA. Last summer, I visited Ephesus in Turkey and it was amazing. First, I saw the Library of Celsus. It's a big, beautiful building. It was a library a long time ago. Then, I went to the Great Theatre. It's huge! It could hold 25,000 people in the past. After that, I saw the Temple of Artemis. It's mostly ruins now, but it was interesting. I also walked through the Terrace Houses. They have pretty mosaics and paintings. I saw the Hadrian Temple too. It's a small temple for an old Roman emperor. Lastly, I visited the Ephesus Museum. There were many old statues and coins.
